WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

A system of apprenticeship has been established in wholesale and retail trades in Manitoba, according to an announcement at Winnipeg.

Steps are being taken to raise a Welsh memorial to the late Senator Marconi on the spot where he carried out first successful wireless experiments, Lavernock Point, Penarth.

King George VI. will tour industrial cities and towns in the West Riding of Yorkshire late in October. He last visited the area as the Duke of York in 1932.

A public subscription has been started to buy a crown for 18-year-old King Farouk, as a gift from the nation for his wedding next February 11.

Two important Scout gatherings will be held in Britain, the Cubmasters and Wolf Cub workers from all the world at Chingford next summer, and the world Rover meet in Scotland in 1939.

Walt Disney was advised by cable that for the fourth consecutive year one of his "Silly Symphonies" had been judged the best short picture at the International Exposition in Venice, Italy.

British aircraft factories are so busy with government orders that duties on foreign-built craft have been dropped, and commercial planes are now being imported from Germany and the United States.

A monument to the inventor of the saxophone, Antoine Sax, will be built at Dinant, Belgium, his birthplace. Sax designed the instrument in 1846 and didn't live to see its great popularity.

F. C. Brown, of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, suggested the Canadian Chamber of Commerce might work with his organization to stop sale of the Dominion's raw materials, such as timber limits and ore deposits, for export in the raw state.

Would Find Ready Market

England Could Sell Better Grade Of Canadian Poultry

Canadian poultry is giving satisfaction on the English market, according to Henry Ridpath, of Ridpath Bros., Ltd., a leading importing firm of foodstuffs, of London and Liverpool, who was in Ottawa meeting officials of the marketing and production services of the Dominion department of agriculture.

He went from Ottawa to Toronto to confer with representatives of the leading meat packing companies and then to western Canada to call on firms whose products he handles in England. He is on his way to Australia and New Zealand.

"While the Canadian poultry that is being exported to Britain is highly satisfactory," Mr. Ridpath said, "a higher proportion of the better grades would find a more ready market."

Keeping Oath Of Silence

Girl Denied Consent To Marry Has Not Spoken For Months

A vow of silence was taken by beautiful Besiljka Panschev, and she has not spoken for six months. The girl, daughter of a leading Sofia industrialist, fell in love with a young, poor chemist, Milorad Dankulov, six months ago. Two days after their meeting, the girl asked her father for permission to marry the chemist. Her father declared that he would never give his consent. The girl, therefore, took a solemn oath never to speak again. Dankulov left Sofia. Despite the pleas of her parents, the girl cannot be induced to break her oath of silence.

The dormouse gets its name from the Latin dormio, meaning "to sleep", due to the fact that the animal hibernates during the winter.

Prevention Of Cancer No. 2 Periodic Health Examination

A bright and handsome Canadian girl, a friend of the writer's family and married to an officer in the United States navy, lives in Philadelphia. She has two charming children and a few years ago was, to all appearances, quite well.

The personnel of Navies is required by the regulations to have an annual physical examination to ensure of their constant fitness and the privilege is extended to the men's families. Though there appeared to be nothing the matter with this young woman, she and a friend determined to undergo the examination. She was discovered to have a small cancer of the uterus. She had appropriate treatment which has been succeeded by regular examination at intervals and now, after four years, is to all appearances well. She will need careful supervision for a few years longer. It is probable that prompt examination has saved this young woman from an untimely end.

In the prevention of miner's phthisis, a disease induced by the inhalation of silica dust arising in rock gold-mining, periodic health examination has gone far in saving the industry from enormous losses. More important than this, it has rescued many of the workers from the menace of an affection that causes serious disablement and in many cases early death. The owners of mines in rock-bearing areas have in self-defense established pre-examination and regular periodic examination of their underground employees. Similar examination is becoming a feature of life insurance work. Many individuals are now visiting their respective physicians at regular intervals for a check-up of their health. The practice may not become universal among the present generation, but among our children, taught as they are, the benefits of disease prevention, one thinks that in a few years periodic health examination will become general. The practice would uncover not only a lot of cancer but a host of affections besides, thus enabling the doctor to nip them in the bud.

Before And After

Phonograph records measure improvements in students' voice and diction in the speech department of Beloit college. A recording is made of a speech by each student at the start of the public speaking course. Another at the close of the course is made on the reverse side of the record. By comparing the two the instructor can judge each student's improvement.

Fire Started By Sun

Heat of the sun at noon is thought to have set fire to an old building in the business section of Bombay. Flames suddenly shot forth from the roof. Fire brigades raced into action, but the fire was not put out until the roof had collapsed and damage done to the extent of $20,000.

Third Picture For Quints

Plans Being Made For Another Movie Next Year

"Mother Knows Best" may be the title of the Dionne quintuplets' next picture, to be released "some time in 1938."

Officials of the Twentieth Century-Fox Films at New York said their coast office holds the story to which the antics of the five little girls may be harnessed in their third screen appearance. But the choice is not definite, and neither producer nor cast has been assigned.

Apparently, it will be next year before the cameras begin turning over in the playroom of the Dafeo nursery, near Callander, to produce a successor to "The Country Doctor" and "Reunion." No work is planned for the quintuplets during the balance of this year, according to the company's production schedule. The quintuplets' contract, signed at the end of 1935, calls for three pictures over a period of three years.

"The Country Doctor," in which the five little girls crawled their way into the hearts of film fans, was released in March, 1936, with Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Peterson and Slim Summerville in the leading adult roles. "Reunion" followed six months later. Both were shown in 48 countries and translated into some 23 languages.

Realized His Dream

Salesman At Exhibition Sold Refrigerator To Eskimo

A refrigerator salesman at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, has achieved his fondest dream. He sold an electric ice box to an Eskimo. Philip Godsell, F.R.G.S., veteran Winnipeg explorer and trapper, vouches for the sale.

It seems the Eskimos at Exhibition Park were suffering from the intense heat. They missed their Arctic snow box outside the igloo door. One short demonstration was enough when the salesman produced his "white man's magic."

Emile St. Goddard, veteran The Pas musher, who was also with the show, said he would use the refrigerator to keep his husky pups cool when they get overheated.

Walks On Ocean Floor

Scientist Covers Quarter Of A Mile In Strange Hike

Dr. William Beebe, of the New York Zoological Society, is back from Bermuda and a bit of casual strolling on the ocean floor.

Dr. Beebe's idea was to study marine life so he donned bathing trunks and a diving helmet, went into the water at new Nonsuch Island and hiked across the bottom of the ocean to Longbird Island, a quarter mile away.

The depth, he said, was about 24 feet and the light comparable to bright moonlight. He obtained much new data about the "abundant" undersea life, he said.

FAMOUS SPEED EXPERT ATTAINS NEW LAURELS

Not satisfied with breaking the existing speedboat record of the world, held by Gar Wood of the United States, at Lake Maggiore, Italy, a few days ago, Sir Malcolm Campbell took his boat out again and set a new record which was five miles an hour better than his own record. On one of his speedy laps Campbell travelled faster than 130 miles an hour.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME—A WRAP 'N' TIE FROCK

By Anne Adams

Make your kiddie feel oh, so "grown-up", by stitching up this cute little wrap-around frock for her back-to-school wear! ## Driving Test Sought

British Columbia Legislature May Be Asked To Pass Act

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said his department was "considering" asking the British Columbia legislature to pass an act compelling all automobile drivers in the province to submit to a driving test before obtaining driver's licenses.

The test was proposed as an effort to combat the mounting traffic death toll.

In the first eight months of 1937 traffic accidents claimed 80 lives in the province.

Miracle Of Chemistry

Compound That Will Lay The Dust Quicker Than Water

Wetter water—answer to the prayers of millions for something to take dust out of the air like nothing else ever did—now becomes a reality.

The latest miracle of chemistry was announced to the American Chemical Society by B. G. Wilkes of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, and J. N. Wickero of the Carbide and Carbons Chemical Corporation, South Charleston, W. Va.

It's no pun, but "wetter water" is made that way with alcohol. There's nothing intoxicating about the stuff. The alcohol is a new "synthetic," something that does not exist in nature. It is made from waste gas of oil wells. The new feature of this alcohol is the giant size of its molecules.

They have a most peculiar effect on ordinary water. A few drops of this "oil well hootch" added to a gallon of water actually makes it "wetter."

That is, the water wets whatever it touches almost instantly. Things like yarns that would take an indefinite time, many minutes as a rule, to get wet through in water, soak in a few seconds in "wetter water."

Most spectacular was a dust laying experiment. In a work room where the dust was hazy thick and breathing risky, an ordinary water spray fell through the air without relief.

"Wetter water," Wilkes said, made the air almost entirely clear, and solved the health hazard. The wet water simply soaked instantly every dust particle it touched where ordinary water drops had been "glancing off."

Discoverers Of Insulin

Did Not Make One Cent Of Profit From Invention

The discoverers of insulin did not receive one cent personally for their invention which paid others profits of $400,000 its first year.

This fact was made known in a symposium held by the American Chemical Society at Rochester, N.Y., on what to do about medical patents. Morris Fishbein, M.D., spokesman of the American Medical Association, said that Sir Frederick Banting of Toronto, the medical man in the discovery, received $1 for the patents, not being allowed by medical ethics to accept more.

He said Sir Frederick's four associates "who were not physicians have had the advantage of such royalties."

Dr. E. L. Hutchinson, now director of the institute which was founded as a result of the discovery, replied Sir Frederick was offered the dollar, but didn't take it. Also, he said, the other four did not take a cent either. Some of the royalties, he said, were assigned to each of the five solely for further research work.

Aid For Brain Workers

Oxygen Mask Helps Them To Think Without Fatigue

A new oxygen mask, which looks like a tightly rolled towel tied over the mouth, protects mental workers from fatigue caused by thinking.

The mask was described to the American Psychological Association at Minneapolis by Dr. Arthur G. Bills of the University of Cincinnati. It delivers to the wearer a combination of about 50 per cent. pure oxygen mixed with air.

Its use cut about in half the number of pauses per minute that come to persons doing brain work. These pauses happen to everyone. They have been attributed to mental fatigue—the brain taking a short rest.

It has been suspected the fatigue was not due so much to grey matter getting "tired" as to failure of the blood to supply all the oxygen the brain wanted. Dr. Bills has been testing this idea for several years.

A New Star

Discovery Of Supernova Is Announced In California

A new star 500,000,000 times brighter than the sun flashed across the scientific sky recently.

Because of its great distance from the earth, however—3,000,000 light years—it is visible only through the most powerful telescopes.

Discovery of the "Supernova" was announced by Dr. Fritz Zieky of California Institute of Technology.

THE CANADIAN ADVENTURE TRIP OF BOB SIM, AN ONTARIO FARM BOY

No. 13 of a Series of 16 Letters

Bob enjoys visit to Canada's West Coast metropolis—Entertains young ladies at camp in Rockies, then gets them to wash dishes. Caribou Trail without Caribou puzzles him and his companions.

Spanish Banks, Vancouver, B.C. (Special Despatch by Bob Sim)—Vancouver, city of cloud and sunshine, has treated us generously with the latter for two days. Last night your Vagabond Voyagers, sleeping innocently under the Great Dipper and the North Star, were visited suddenly and unmistakably by the former. In a word—there is rain in Vancouver. They don't call it rain here. It is just dampish; it is a dry rain they say, and you don't notice it.

Three days ago we scented the tang of salt water. Since Columbus many good lives have been lost in the struggle to blaze a land or water route from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Strong, hardy men they were, consumed by the lure of the unknown, the desire for adventure, unmindful of hardship—they spent themselves in search of the elusive Pacific. We had something of the feeling of the explorer or pioneer as we drove our tent pegs into the soil of Spanish Banks. The goal achieved, the journey ended. Country Life from Coast to Coast is now completed; perhaps not a pioneer effort, but at least a significant effort to reach the mind of farmers, and the problems of farming of our Dominion, which stretches as the Psalmist says, from Sea to Sea.

Spanish Banks

Before us the blue waters of the English Bay with the blue Coastal Mountains in background. On the hills behind us the famous site of the University of British Columbia. On Spanish Banks, Sir George Vancouver landed and discussed with the Spanish their comparative claims to this Pacific territory. Here Indian and fur trader met and bartered, to provide nucleus for white settlement. Here the miner driven by gold-lust landed to trawl inland toward the gold bearing waters of the Fraser and Thompson. Here the railway fastened its iron tentacles to draw together the far flung territories of British North America.

From trading post, mining town, and railroad terminus, Vancouver has grown to a ranking Canadian city; air base, industrial centre supplying the Canadian West, gateway to the Orient. Prophets say Vancouver will challenge the supremacy of Montreal, surpass Toronto, become Canada's greatest city. Already it is a cosmopolitan centre, a far cry from seaman Vancouver's camping ground on the Spanish Banks.

Mountain Climbing With Floradora

Flora the Ford, and Dora the dumb trailer have conducted your voyageurs since we last met over many a perilous trail and difficult ascent. When we wrote last week we were near the United States border. From there we travelled north and west finally reaching the Thompson river. The road down the Thompson and Fraser rivers which finally brought us to the coast follows an old Caribou Trail. How the Caribou traversed it is beyond me; and we will never know, for strange enough there are only elk in the country now. Even to-day with modern engineering and Flora's Fordish stubbornness the trail was not an easy journey. The trail led us from the brink of the swirling Fraser waters, up to dizzy heights of almost a mile above sea level. The scenery is beautiful beyond description, but the driver who admires it without stopping may be mingled with the scenery in a way not approved by parents or insurance companies.

Camping facilities on the trail are as yet limited. Cooking our supper one night in a lonely canyon we were expecting a visit from a bear. Instead a group of girls drifted in to join in our sing song. I discovered that by flattering their singing they could be induced to wash the dishes. Take the tip, harassed husbands! One other night we camped on the grounds of an Indian Residential School. They had a splendid plant that compared favorably with a Boarding School in the East. It is operated by the Anglican church and it gave us a glimpse of the difficulties attending work among the Indians, as well as the achievements realized. All across the country we have been impressed with the efforts of the Home Mission Boards of our churches, as well as the opportunities for service that have not yet been explored.

While We Sojourn Here

The Caribou Trail, without its Caribou, brings us back to Vancouver and our little tent on the Spanish Banks. We will spend almost a week here; before we sail for Vancouver Island; from the Island we will travel directly* and quickly through our great sister nation, going via Salt Lake City and Chicago.

But while we sojourn here a great deal is to be seen and learned. To-day we covered the waterfront. There was one of the C.P.R. queens of the Pacific to visit—the Empress of Russia—sleek as an Oriental goddess. Near the Empress we found the fishing fleet coming in, busy as ants, foul smelling. At the pier they unloaded salmon, and we saw the red meat go into the cans we know so well in the East. It is raining to-day, you remember, or at least it is dampish. Water logged as wharf rats we crawled into a cheap chow-house, to get a full course meal for fifteen cents.

Besides, we must visit saw mills, Stanley Park with Pauline Johnson's tomb, the great Oriental section, and the University. But the visiting and the telling of it must wait till next week.

In France more men than women fail in the motor driving test.

Unfair Tactics at Round-up?

"As a result of the grossly unfair tactics employed by officials of the Whatcom County and State Humane Societies in trying to cripple the Sumas Roundup last week-end, the faith of thousand of residents of this state has been shaken in the Humane Society, which is as a whole, undoubtedly trying to perform a real service to the state.

"Using the technicality of an ancient law as an excuse, the humane society officers appeared at the Roundup Saturday, AFTER THE SHOW HAD STARTED, and attempted to have the calf-roping contests removed from the program.

"Although threatened with arrest, Manager John Hartwig and the competing cowboys refused to be intimidated, the show went on as scheduled, the calves were roped and warrants were issued for Manager Hart-wig and nine cowboys. By posting ball, the accused men were able to take part in the Sunday show, when again the calves were roped.

"At the trial Monday, the case was quickly dismissed by Justice J. P. Mc-Glin shortly after State Humane Officer E. R. Rose admitted that this was the first time in the five years he has been in office that an arrest has been made for calf roping, although many such contests have been held in various parts of the state during that period."—Sumas (Wash.) News.

Plow Assists Radio Engineers

Even in these days of advanced science the radio engineer turns to the humble plow — perhaps man's first mechanical achievement — to assist him in the construction of an ultra-modern high powered broadcasting station. Here we see the plow, specially designed by J. B. Radford, in charge of installation of the two 50 kilowatt stations, at Hornby, Ontario, and Vercheres, Quebec, which are being built for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation by the Northern Electric Company Limited, in Montreal. The plow is used for the burying of 15 miles of copper wire in the form of a huge wheel at the base of the 650 ft. radiating tower, at the top of which, as shown in our sketch, is an aerial beacon.
This mass of wire forms a perfect ground system and is as wide as the tower is high. These two stations, the most powerful in Canada, will be on the air early this Fall.

In the early days of steamboat before the era of western railroads, a much-heralded steamboat reached the head of navigation just as the wa-

the dam into the paddle wheel, and so effectively dry-docked the whole affair that clearance could not be accomplished before the river's rapidly receding waters had lost their float-age.

Among more recent achievements beavers have materially increased the cost of fly fishing in certain areas.

The province of Quebec, which formerly allowed the trapping of its beaver during a short annual season, announced some time since that for a long term of years no beaver should be killed or snared. Thirty-six months after this announcement beaver became so numerous that each club member has ever since been necessarily assessed each year fifty dollars to repair inundated trails. On our last visit to this club we found the trail approaching our favorite camping spot knee deep in water. Four guides and my husband spent hours in destroying a wide section of a beaver dam, and weary and numb, we made camp after dark. When our breakfast was served rather later than usual on the following morning, our guide remarked with a quizzical smile:
"S'il vous plait, Madame, les castors l'ont tout refait." Inspection disclosed that not only the dam had been repaired perfectly, but also a pile of sticks was in readiness at each end, should we do further damage.

Elsewhere, the beaver has been the fisherman's ally. In the Catskill Mt. region, when enticed by sticks, logs purposely placed by men at salient points in the banks of trout streams, the dentiferous mechanic has created ponds beloved by local anglers.

At a strategic point on a Canadian river human engineers, built a cement barrier containing an opening through which the waters poured into turbine engines, generating power for mills and the electric station situated downstream. Immediately after the opening ceremonies the plant refused to work one night. Search revealed that since the beginning of twilight the beaver had dammed the intake for the turbines, an instinctive action to prevent the loss of the water. Ejected from this site, they retreated up the river, shut off the entire stream and left the cement barrier high and dry more than once.

A few years ago not far from New York City a pair of beavers discovered in a lake on a noted country estate, were warmly welcomed. On the shore of the lake was a cherished grove of birch trees. Annually the beaver family increased to its present numerous-ness, and the trees decreased toward their present nearness to zero. The owner appealed to the game commission for permission to remove them, but the answer was in effect: "One thousand dollars fine and one year in jail, should you disturb one of your pets."

Synopsis of Land Act

PRE-EMPTIONS

VACANT, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation and improvement.
Full information concerning Pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C.; Bureau of Provincial Information, Victoria, or any Government Agent.
Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes within reasonable distance of road, school and marketing facilities and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre east of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre west of that Range.
Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division in which the land applied for is situated, on printed forms obtained from the Commissioner.
Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.
Pre-emption carrying part time conditions of occupation are also granted.

PURCHASE OR LEASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes. Minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land, $2.50 per acre.
Further information is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

As a partial relief measure, reverted lands may be acquired by homestead, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtained after
residence and improvement conditions are
made during the first two years of not less than 10% of the appraised value.
Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homestead, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in
the first year, title being obtained after
residence and improvement conditions are
made during the first two years of not less than 10% of the appraised value.

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under grazing regulations amended from time to time to meet varying conditions. Annual grazing permits are issued based on certain monthly rates per head of stock. Priority in grazing privileges is given to resident stock owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

MATSQUI

Miss Gene Machell of Vancouver spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Machell.

Mr. C. O'D. Bell has taken up residence in the house owned by Mr. R.
Mercer on the Bell road. Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton, formerly of Antelope, Sask., have purchased Mr. Bell's farm and equipment on the Fore road.

Mrs. J. McLaughlin visited friends in Vancouver last week.

R. Rottluff, C. Goodchild and M.
Anderson have left on a motor trip to the prairies.

Joe Smith, Oliver Fore, L. Swanson and W. Frost are away on a trip to the Cariboo.

Mr. Frank Smith has returned to his home, after spending some time at Courtenay, V. I.

Abbotsford soccer team play their first game in the Vancouver and District League next Sunday, when they meet their old rivals of last year, the Eckersley eleven, now playing as Excelsior Lumber, on the Jubilee grounds. The locals promise to put up a better game than last Sunday, when they were badly beaten by a New Westminster eleven in an exhibition game.

SUMAS DISTRICT

The Sumas Dyking District dredge has rebuilt the grade of the Kilgord road from the Interprovincial highway to the brick works, and is now cleaning out lateral ditches throughout the lake area. Crews of men are cutting off the heavy willow growths along the banks of the larger ditches

In order to prevent accumulations of snow this winter, with consequent tie-up of traffic, Sumas council has decided to raise the level of Whatcom Road from the municipal hall to the provincial highway. Municipal Engineer D. McGugan is laying out the work now.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Curtis had as guests last week their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Newman of Menzie Bay.

Sam McConnell is recovering from his recent illness.

Leo Wright, who gave his address as Chilliwack, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in Sumas police court this week, on a charge of creating a disturbance.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hayes returned Sunday from a motor holiday in the Interior. They brought home a sack of Kamloops trout as evidence of George's prowess with a fly rod.

A cow owned by Fred Stevens was struck by an auto driven by a Vancouver motorist last week, and had to be shot.

Angus Campbell is feed "finishing" his herd of 67 beef cattle, recently brought here from Alberta, on his 60 acre clover fields near Evan-Thomas.
Mr. Campbell's first cutting off this heavy stand amounted to more than 200 tons.

PLOWING MATCH OCTOBER 20

Annual plowing match sponsored by the M.-S.-A. Plowing Association will be held this year in Matsqui district on a field donated by Ken Gillies, about a mile and a half from Abbotsford on the Bateman road, which runs from Rivers Road. Date of the event is set for October 20.

In addition to several cups offered, good cash prizes have been put up,
and an extra class for the best dressed team added, and officials feel this will be the best match yet held.

A dance is planned for the evening in Matsqui hall, with old-time and modern music.

An Appeal to Reason (Contributed, J.W., Abbotsford)

WHAT an envious selfish bling the average human is, and how unappreciative of the numerous blessings many of us are permitted to enjoy and more how indifferent we are to the advantages in being just what we are, when we are with the intellect to realize opportunities, if we would,
and the health to enjoy them.

How often do we let the opportunity to build into one character, much that is essential, pass by unnoticed because our narrow minds become focussed upon some small advantage our neighbors may be enjoying, or what we call his "stroke of luck" and we sit down and enviously wonder why fate should favor him and pass us up.

And what could be more detrimental to our moral, social and spiritual growth than self-pity, envy and an over-rated sense of our own capabilities. Possibly our neighbor has reached his advantageous point, through self-application and cultivation of traits and talents, however small, that strengthen and enable.

How can we grow mentally or spiritually, if we think evilly in the narrow terms of envy and disbelief.

If we think pessimistically we can become so pessimistic in our opinions and outlook, not only to our friends, but to all with whom we come into contact.

All that might have been good within us, and who is not born with some good traits is killed or so dwarfed that it is unrecognized. The good we might have been and the joy we might have brought to these around us is never realized.

As humans we cannot afford to take ourselves carelessly, but should strive to cultivate and improve every trait or characteristic that will enable or make our lives a blessing to those about us.

Thus will we learn to recognize and appreciate only the good qualities in those with whom we live and before we realize it our whole attitude toward life is changed and life itself is brighter.

Nothing will stimulate depression more than the individuals lack of Dollars Saved are Dollars Earned!

EVERY year your family, and every family of your acquaintance, spends about 70 per cent of its income just for living, exclusive of rent—so economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

That part of spending is readily understood. But do you realize that every manufacturer and retailer of these necessities is planning how he can get your dollar?

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

The clever woman goes for help to the advertisements in her local paper. There she finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants and business people. She compares values. She weighs quality and price. She takes this opportunity of judging and selecting almost everything she needs to feed, clothe, amuse, instruct and generally bring up her family.

Read the advertisements! You will find them willing and able to serve you in the business of purchase.

Mt. Lehman Centenarian

Receives Felicitations

Mrs. Anna Taylor received a delegation representing Matsqui municipal at her home, Taylor road, Mt. Lehman on Monday, upon the occasion of her 100th birthday. Bearing a large birthday cake, Reeve Cruickshank lead the group, which comprised his father and sister, Councilors Simpson and Goodchild, Clerk Pennington and Relief Officer J. A. Gibson. In letter and orally, the visitors offered felicitations and congratulations to Mrs. Taylor, whose health is excellent and her faculties unimpaired.

Mrs. Taylor moved to Mt. Lehman with her husband and family in 1894 from New Westminster. She was born in Port Medway, Lunenburg, Nova Scotia on Sept. 28, 1837, and taught school in Lunenburg before her marriage.

Three sons, three grandsons and three great-grandsons of Mrs. Taylor reside at Mt. Lehman. Mr. Taylor died in 1911.

To Operate Theatre at Agassiz
W. Little and C. Freisen, owners of Abbotsford Theatre are this week extending their motion picture operations to Agassiz, where they have acquired the equipment of A. Fletcher.

Grows 42½-lb. Pumpkin

Something of a record for garden-production is claimed by "Bill" Roberts, local plumber, who has got a yield of 15 marrows and 27 pumpkins, all of good healthy size, from a small plot of ground. One of the biggest pumpkins, weighing 42½ lbs., may be seen at the Safeway Store.

DEPLORES APATHY TO DR. TELFORD'S MEETING

Editor News:

May I through the medium of your paper express my surprise and disappointment at the very poor support extended to Dr. Telford at the meeting held Sept. 29. We, or at least the majority of us, are up till now unsuccessfully striving for the things Dr. Telford stands for. How can we expect to attain them if we do not stick together and do our share?

Its all very well airing our ideas on street corners in fine weather, or expressing them over the teacups, but mere expressing won't gain for us the things which are our due. The working people must congregate and work together towards this end, and inclement weather should not be made an excuse for not taking every opportunity to support Dr. Telford and his cause, not forgetting it is ours as well, and in the long run, when we attain our goal then we can all feel at liberty to enjoy our dues with a clear conscience that we did our share in reaching it.

Mr. McLeod, who operated a store with post-office at Willow Bunch, Saskatchewan, has taken up a piece of acreage near the main highway west of Abbotsford.

The crop was practically sold out. In New Brunswick by October 31 heavy shipments had been made, and Prince Edward Island, the province with the largest acreage of certified seed potatoes, where the crop is somewhat larger than in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, soon followed suit in the steady outward flow. Export shipments of the 1936 crop amounted to 484,989 bushels. Of this amount, 142,808 bushels

MRS. E. PHILLIPS

The death occurred on Thursday, after considerable illness, of Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, aged 79, a highly-respected resident of Abbotsford for many years.

Born in London, England, Mrs. Phillips came to Abbotsford from Alberta in 1922. Her husband predeceased her several years ago.

Her gentle unobtrusive manner won for Mrs. Phillips many friends, and though she confined herself to home in latter years, she will be missed by many.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Lydia Swift of Viking, Alta., Mrs. Mary Bishop of Abbotsford; Mrs. Annie Ames of Bremner, Alta.; Mrs. Laura Green of Gollond, Alta., and Mrs. Matilda Schnare of Abbotsford; also three sons, William J. and Thomas of Holden, Alta., and Ernest of Vancouver.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from Pentecostal Church to

Here is magic that is open to any home owner; magic that brings comfort and convenience; magic that protects property and adds to its life and value; magic that creates jobs for men who need them. You, too, can put it to work as thousands of other home owners have done. Re-faciling and paint; new roof; insulation; a modern heating system; a planned kitchen; a fire-tem; new plumbing or wiring; an extra room in basement or attic or a heated garage — will fit into your budget with surprising ease. Any contractor, supply firm or architect can help you arrange a Home Improvement Plan loan, or you can apply direct to your banker.

Pipeless Organ at CN Ex. Bandshell

AT THIS year's Canadian National Exhibition one of the outstanding attractions was the daily public concert from the new Bandshell in the centre of the grounds where the Northern-Hammond Organ, an entirely new kind of organ using electrical impulses with no pipes or reeds, was featured; thus proving the organ now has other fields than churches and auditoriums or the home. This new instrument which is not affected by heat, cold or dampness, is the latest product of the Northern Electric Company's plant in Montreal.

The Ideal Rejection Slip

An American author recently received the ideal rejection slip of his career from a firm of Chinese publishers.

"We read your manuscripts with boundless delight," wrote the Chinese firm. "By the sacred ashes of our ancestors, we swear that we have never dipped into a book of such overwhelming mastery. It was we who published this book it would be impossible in the future to issue any book of a lower standard. As it is unthinkable that within the next 10,000 years we shall find its equal, we are, to our great regret, compelled to return this too divine work and beg you a thousand times to forgive our action."

SHOWER FOR RHODA HOON

Autumn foliage and late summer flowers intermingled with a color scheme of pink, white and blue, formed an effective setting for a prenuptial shower held by members of the younger set at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Rhoda Hoon, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.
Hoon.

Mrs. J. Wilson Sr. and Mrs. J.
Wilson Jr. presided over the tea table, which was covered with an embrodered Irish linen tablecloth and centred with a silver bowl filled with gloria-de-dejon, roses and maidenhair fern graced with pastel tapers in silver holders, over which hung a large wedding bell.

The gifts were presented by Misses D. Anderson, Betty Irvine, Beth Andrews, Lucy Jones and H. Fields of Calgary. Other invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lovedar, Mr. and Mrs.
Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and Mesdames Reeves, Reith, Kitchen, Latter, J. Aitken, Fisher, Trusler, Urquhart, Nolan, Clark, Stady, Busby, Buckle, T. D. Smith, Edwards, Grant, Hoon, and the Misses R. Hoon, Reeves, D. Reeves, Matthews and Mrs.
Brigdon.

Tea cup reading by Mrs. Trusler entertained the guests, while Mrs.
Kitchen gave peeps into the mystic future for the bride and her young friends. Music and games enhanced the program.

Bob Carlson, popular manager of the Overwater store here three years ago, made calls in Abbotsford this week, renewing acquaintanceships.
He is now residing at Trail.

Joe Olsen Tom York and Pete Martin left Sunday for Musquash Farm, Quesnel district, where they will hunt the moose.

Dr. F. P. Patterson is to be accorded a banquet tomorrow evening in the Canadian Legion Auditorium, Mission.
A program follows the supper.

The Lesson from The Beaver

We North Americans are wont to regard the beaver as an amusing chance acquaintance, forgetting that he has played a noteworthy part in the development of our continent. All such British undertakings as the Hudson's Bay Company, the North West Company and Alexander Mackenzie's epic journeys to the Arctic and the Pacific, had the beaver for their foundation.

The United States can boast an equal indebtedness to this little rodent.
During millenniums the beaver have been damming the streams, and so retaining the silt and hums which would otherwise have been carried to the sea.
This small furry tireless gnawer was our pioneer agronomist. His successful efforts at soil reclamation antedated the earliest experiments of the Department of Agriculture and the Garden Club of America by probably a million years.

When, in 1609, Samuel de Champlain entered the northern part of New York State, and Henry Hudson sailed up the river that now bears his name, their arrival had much to do with furs. Champlain was confessed-ly seeking to enlarge the area of the peltry business of New France, while Henry Hudson, though primarily in quest of a route to China, made his employer in Holland a report on furs so enthusiastically phrased that for the next seventeen years peltries formed practically the sole enterprise of the Dutch colonists, and the nucleus of all this peltry trade was the beaver.

Though the beaver and the Indian tended to disappear from the eastern United States with the increase in white settlers, the beaver's fur maintained an important place in the commerce of the world. When about 17-90, the China trade commenced to develop, our ancestors, who had little to offer in exchange for the tea and other luxuries procurable in the Orient, loaded their ships with small ware and gewgaws to tempt the Indians of the Pacific Coast, and there exchanged these for skins of the far West, which were in turn eagerly purchased by the fur-loving Chinese.
Thus did the little beaver, slightly aided by the sea otter, provide not only tea, spices, nankeen and crepes, but also our cherished heirlooms in oriental porcelains, amber, carved ivory or jade.

When the Louisiana Purchase was made at the beginning of the nineteenth century, President Jefferson, commissioned Meriwether Lewis and Winniam Clark to find an overland route to the shores of the Pacific.
Though they failed to chance upon a path that might become commercially practicable across the Rockies, they paved the way for another overland party sent out by John Jacob Astor in 1810. At the same time he freighted the good ship "Tonquin" with French Canadian trappers and voyageurs, arms, supplies and articles for barter, and despatched it on the long perilous journey around Cape Horn to trade for furs on the western shores. Incidentally, Astor's overland searchers for beaver, discovered and were the first white men to traverse a route, which was later known as the Oregon Trail and along which most of the Argonauts of '49 made their toilsome journey to California.

During the heyday of the fur trade, beaver skins passed as money, and had an established rating of approximately four dollars for an average raw skin. Following the transfer of the skins themselves other currency such as small stones or bits of metal, each bearing the mark or initials of a well known trader and the crude drawing of a beaver, represented actual skins lying in some storehouse, and passing freely among traders and Indians.

Gradually the value of the beaver pelts waned until they became merely one of the least modish of furs. The tradition that they lost their commercial worth when the hatters of Belgium discovered that top hats could be made from the fur of the Belgium hare, has been denied by modern historians. Nevertheless, the use of beaver's fur in the making of hats during several hundred years is attested by such authors as Chaucer and Addison.

Whatever its present status, this unassuming little animal may accurately claim that he gave to our for-bears luxuries and wealth, and that

THE Secret Life of MARY JONES

UNLIKE most busy young wives, Mary Jones had a secret life all of her own. A happy quiet interlude in bustling days that was hers alone to do what she pleased.

These "secret" extra hours gave her time to read, sew or rest—and do a hundred and one things lots of

This was possible because she had learned of a secret baking method that enabled her to make bread and

History of Peiping, For Ages, Under Different Names, A Sovereign City of China

Peiping, which for ages under different names considered itself the sovereign city of the world, has again been hearing the roar of warfare at its gates and has been feeling its blows. Whatever befalls in the present conflict between Chinese and Japanese, this most aloof and mysterious city, can scarcely lose its glamor.

Approaching Peiping by train, or even by air route from Shanghai, the stranger becomes oppressively aware of the past. Everything seems so old, so lethargic. Grave mounds dot the landscape, for the Chinese dead are buried in their fields and next year's furrows curve around. The walled villages and mud hovels are colorless and mostly in decay. Men's works seem transient against China's 6,000 years.

Suddenly, the spreading city walls rise comfortably out of the plain. Their antiquity, strangeness and weird beauty captivate one's senses. The train clatters through a breach and the vista of Peiping opens ahead, a vista of the roofs, mostly drab gray but some of lovely shades of gold and yellow and green.

The city has three main walls, one within another, maze-like. The outermost, pierced by ponderous gates and broken at the top by guard-houses, is as massive as the Great Wall. It is more than forty feet in height and about sixty feet wide at the base, narrowing a little at the top, where the facing rises a few feet. This used to give cover to archers and spearmen as they hurled their bolts into the barbarian ranks below.

Within this wall are the two other city walls. A faded red wall sets apart the Imperial City, where officials and lesser ones of royal rank lived and worked; and within that are the wall and moat that isolated the Forbidden City, where dwell the Son of Heaven with his thousands of retainers.

Each change in dynasty left some mark. Peiping's architecture, decorative arts, customs, habits of mind, spiritual or ethical trend—all show something of each period of its long past and combine to make the city what it is: the most romantic, polite, nonchalant and variously interesting place in the Orient, not only to the student, artist, political historian or archaeologist, but to the casual resident and tourist.

The temples and palaces are among the most beautiful in existence—the lift to their eaves is a reminder of the tents of Kublai Khan when their corners were drawn up toward the sky. It takes an inspired brush to picture their colorings, products of lost processes and forgotten pigments and centuries of weather. The palaces of the emperors have been described as the most majestic constructions ever built for royalty. The very old throne room is all of glass, plate glass up to the fretwork dado, the great glass main door extending to the roof.

The newcomer finds Peiping rather awesome, somewhat breath-taking in its hint of something sleeping that may awake. Friends or tourist agencies launch him on a round of sight-seeing, one temple after another, one palace just a little more magnificent than the last, until names run together, until dragons haunt his slumber. Eventually a case of esthetic indigestion results, with its natural reaction.

Travellers agree that the Temple of Heaven with its three-tiered tower blue tile is one of the most exquisite structures known. They view the miles of imperial palaces within the red walls of the imperial city; the Bell and Drum Towers that gave the alarm when enemies approached; the suburban Summer Palace, by a lake among green hills, with theatre, audience hall, temples, tea houses and other buildings and pavilions that make it seem like a dream town—they thrill to these impressive remnants of a departed royalistic glory.

Peiping is one of the oldest cities still in existence, and it has ever had an influence on the destinies of Asia. It has been besieged and captured uncounted times. It has been completely destroyed on at least three occasions, with only blood-soaked heaps of stones to mark its location. And in sign of its vicissitudes it has borne at least eight different names.

Since the beginning, Peiping's fortunes, and with them those of China, ran definitely and noticeably in cycles. There were recurrent periods of humiliation. Its most recent one opened in the middle of the nineteenth century, when the Manchu court, like its predecessors, fell slothful and degenerate. It eventually gave way before the anger of the people, who replaced the empire with a republic.

The wheel moved on. The city was degraded again when Nanking became the capital; even its name—Peiping instead of Peking—showed the lower estate. Japanese influence has encroached upon it from the north. Indeed, for some months it was wondered whether Chinese or Japanese were the real rulers of the city.

But the things that made Peiping Chinese in the long ago have served to keep the city Chinese to-day. To its peoples the Japanese are aliens—and Peiping is accustomed to absorbing aliens, even when they have conquered it.

The Big Brother Farm

Brings Happiness To Many Oregon Boys Every Year

Twenty-four years ago an idea occurred to Chester A. Lyon, of Lebanon, Oregon.

On every hand Mr. Lyon found children who were under-privileged, who never heard of vacations, summer camps, farms, or any of the myriad other things that tug at youthful heartstrings. Realization of this condition caused him to purchase a tract of land near Lebanon and organize the "Big Brother Farm."

Ever since Mr. Lyon and his wife have spent their summers on the farm as host and hostess to 25 or 30 boys each year. Small fruits and short season crops are grown on the acreage. There are filberts, walnuts and prunes. There are cows, chickens and pigs—not to mention the garden. The boys work in the garden, help harvest the fruit and nut crop and do the chores on the place, but there is no profit, for practically everything that is grown goes toward feeding the ravenous appetites of the "guests."

Work on the farm is light. Breakfast at 6 a.m. is followed by a work period lasting until 10 a.m. Then comes a period of supervised play composed of games, hikes, swimming, fishing and dozens of other things dear to boys on camping expeditions. In the evening chores are done and then comes games and other recreation.

Thus, each year the "Big Brother Farm" brings happiness to a group of children who otherwise would miss much of life. With the money obtained from the nut and prune crops on the farm and from the donations of interested friends, and with what they save from their earnings elsewhere, the Lyons "have their annual vacation." At first they started the venture alone, but now find much assistance in their daughter Catherine and son Howard, both high school students.

The First Poet Laureate

Charles I. Appointed Ben Johnson To Position In 1617

It seems a far cry to the minstrel of Richard Coeur de Lion, yet the present office of poet laureate is a development of the practice of the 11th and 12th centuries. King Richard had a versificator regis (verse maker of the King) named Guilielmus Peregrinus; Henry III. had a versificator named Master Henry, and Edward IV. had a humble poet laureate named John Kay. The crown has always shown patronage to literary talent. Chaucer was given a pension and a perquisite of wine by Edward III. and Queen Elizabeth gave Spencer a pension, but the first poet laureate who held the position in all its essentials was Ben Johnson, whom Charles I. appointed in 1617.

Gather Eggs Often

Last Time Should Be Just Before Dark If Possible

Eggs should be gathered at least twice a day, and three times daily is better during hot weather. The time of one gathering should be just before dark or as near to it as practicable. This last gathering may not produce a great number of eggs, but since broody hens will commonly search out the nest containing eggs after the day's laying has ceased, failure to gather late in the day is a common source of distinct deterioration.

Each gathering should be placed in the coolest part of the cellar if no other cool spot is available, as soon as gathered.

Incubation was known to the ancient Egyptians. Pliny says that they thus hatched 100,000,000 chickens in a year.

Eskimos Import Furs

Wolverine Used For Trimming Parkas Is Scarce In North

No one carries coal to Newcastle but trading companies in the far northern territory of Coppermine, beyond the Arctic Circle, bring furs to the Eskimo, their own chief source of supply for furs.

Annually the Hudson's Bay Company, which once ruled a vast area of northern and western Canada, takes hundreds of wolverine skins into the Arctic and sells them to the Eskimo. Wolverine is the only fur on which ice will not form from the condensed breath of the wearer. It is used to trim the hoods, cuffs and bottoms of caribou skin parkas that all Eskimo wear in winter.

Few wolverines are caught in the northwest, not nearly enough to trim all the parkas that are worn. So the company buys them in east where they are more plentiful, ships them down the Mackenzie River by steamer, transfers them to the auxiliary schooners that ply the Arctic coast and leaves them with the trading posts to be sold for cash or exchanged for other furs.

The Likeable People

Are Those Who Can Be Relied On At All Times

People would try harder for trustworthiness if they knew how lovable a quality it is. When you know you can rely upon any one, that whatever they undertake to do will be done, that you can really pass over a share of your load to them, you cannot help liking them. On the other hand, it does not matter how amiable men may be, if they are forgetful, if they are unpunctual, if they habitually neglect, they become sources of such annoyance that one's liking is apt to die out.—Sir William Robertson.

Certified Seed Potatoes

Demand In Several Countries For Potatoes From Maritimes

Canadian certified seed potatoes are in demand in several countries. In 1936 as soon as the crop was harvested, the outward movement started in Nova Scotia as early as August. By the end of November the crop was practically sold out. In New Brunswick by October 31 heavy shipments had been made, and Prince Edward Island, the province with the largest acreage of certified seed potatoes, where the crop is somewhat later than in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, soon followed suit in the steady outward flow. Export shipments of the 1936 crop amounted to 1,484,989 bushels. Of this amount 1,142,808 bushels were shipped during the fall months of 1936, and 342,181 bushels during the spring months of 1937. In addition, 214,336 bushels were sold in Canada. The total quantity of certified seed potatoes shipped during the season, therefore, was 1,699,325 bushels.

Respecting the 1937 crop of certified seed potatoes, a total of approximately 30,000 acres of potatoes is now being inspected in the field with a view to certification. This represents a 45 per cent. increase in acreage to be inspected as compared with that inspected in 1936. Orders have already been secured in New Brunswick for approximately 300,000 crates of 110 pounds each of certified seed potatoes for shipment to Argentina and Uruguay in October. Further orders are expected. Large shipments of certified seed potatoes will also be made to the West Indies and to ports of the United States from Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in the fall.

Takes Air Mail Contract

Trans-Canada Air Lines have taken over the mail contract for the Vancouver-Seattle route from Canadian Airways, G. A. Thompson, general manager of Canadian Airways, announced. Mr. Thompson also announced that Trans-Canada Air Lines purchased the two Lockheed Electra planes with which the mail was flown by Canadian Airways from Vancouver to Seattle.

Luxurious Lace At Pin-Money Cost

Lace luxurious to behold, yes! . . . but your pin-money will cover the trifling cost of pattern and string you'll need for this. Get started right away on this dainty cloth (spread or scarf), if you'd have it finished for Winter festivities. Individual medallions, easy to crochet, are repeated to make up this rich, openwork design. Crochet a few extra medallions and you can have a buffet set to match! In pattern 5817 you will find complete instructions for making the 9-inch medallion shown; an illustration of it and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published

Butter Honors For West

Western Canada Wins In Butter Competition At Toronto Exhibition

Western Canada entries swept through to nearly complete domination in the competition for butter at the Canadian National Exhibition, according to results announced.

The Gladstone Creamery of Gladstone, Man., captured the sweepstakes silver cup for the highest score in creamery butter with a total of 97.4. Manitobans also won many other awards.

Runners-up in section one for creamery butter, salted in 14-pound boxes, included Independent Creamery, Innisfail, Alta.; Alberta Dairy Pool, Wetaskiwin, Alta.; Viking Creamery Association, Viking, Alta.; Burns and Company, Limited, Vegreville, Alta.; Lacombe Creamery, Lacombe, Alta.; and Carstairs Creamery, Carstairs, Alta.

Other contenders in section two for one-pound prints of creamery butter were Lacombe Creamery, Lacombe, Alta.; Burns and Company, Limited, Stettler, Alta.; Elnora Creamery, Elnora, Alta.; Crystal Dairy, Limited, Macleod, Alta.; C. Sorensen, Rocky Mountain House; Wetaskiwin Creamery, Cardston, Alta.; and New Sarepta Dairy, New Sarepta, Alta.

In section three for June-made salted butter in 14-pound boxes, runners-up included Central Alberta Dairy Pool, Alix, Alta.; Burns and Company, Limited, Vegreville, Alta.; and Independent Creameries, Innisfail.

In the dairy butter crock class, runners-up included Mrs. J. M. Johnson, Hawarden, Sask., and Miss Myrtle A. Johnson, Hawarden.

In the one-pound prints the runners-up were Miss Myrtle A. Johnson, Hawarden, Sask.; and Mrs. J. M. Johnson, Hawarden.

Replaces Steel Wheel

Rubber Tire Is Suitable For Many Machines On Farm

Those people old enough to remember how ludicrous pneumatic tires looked when they first appeared on the racing track will remember that the enterprising bicyclists who dared public opinion won easily from riders who preferred the thin solid-tired wheels, and gradually the public became used to the then uncouth appearance of the new wheels, as they did to the sight of a carriage without a fine horse between the shafts. These new tires were not called rubber wheels but some improvised pronunciation of that difficult word "caoutchouc."

So the world goes on in progress. One of the very latest things to be seen on the farm is a rubber-tired wheel to take the place of the steel wheel on separators, combines, binders and drills.

Lighter machinery, such as mowers, rakes, planters, cultivators, weeder, manure spreaders and potato machinery are said to be particularly suitable to rubber tires. They can be operated at higher speeds and with less wheel damage to the crop. Rubber tires for the plough and the one-way disc are not thought to be so satisfactory as the steel wheels.

This means more and more rubber for business which is constantly expanding into new fields. Imports of raw rubber at around 60 million pounds have much more than doubled in the last 12 or 13 years, according to the External Trade Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Department of Trade and Commerce.

Would Help Textile Trade

Bigger Handkerchiefs For Women And Children Are Suggested

The Wholesale Textile Association of Britain has announced in London that they are taking steps for bigger handkerchiefs for women and children. Some years ago a minimum size of nine inches and eight inches respectively was fixed by a trade agreement "to safeguard the interests of the public." The new minimum sizes are ten inches and nine inches respectively.

The Rockefeller family's investments in the various Standard Oil Companies alone, at their 1929 highs, were worth $1,100,000,000.

The oil paintings don't show it, but George Washington's face was pockmarked from smallpox he contracted in the West Indies.

Dressed leather to the value of $75,000,000 is imported annually by Great Britain, in addition to huge quantities of hides and skins.

Great Britain has just ended the first six months of military preparedness under her £1,500,000,000 (about $7,441,031,250) rearmament program.

A wide field of endeavor, by which the country can make an easy transfer to a war footing, is now in full play.

At the rate of about £835,000 ($4,144,740) a day in expenditure, or £34,722 an hour, or £578 a minute, Great Britain is getting ready for whatever war may come.

By comparison the net cost of the Great War to Britain during a period of four years and eight months, is estimated at slightly less than what is now being expended on the five-year rearmament program.

Battleships are being built. Planes are being turned out by the score. Elaborate air-raid precautions are a part of defence preparations. Industry is being mobilized.

"A contribution towards peace," Prime Minister Chamberlain has termed this program. To support his view there is a school of political thought which believes war has been pushed back five years by British rearmament. And before five years have passed, in the opinion of more optimistic observers, British rearmament may force, through sheer inability of other countries to keep pace, a definite move towards disarmament.

Alarmists, on the other hand, continue to voice fears that rearmament may come too late, that Britain may not be ready when war, with its new capacity for "knockout" blows, again engulfs Europe.

No question remains that Britain has turned her energies to rearmament with ever-accelerating efficiency. The record of the past six months, as regards rearmament and defence preparations, aside from the strictly military, includes the following:

Navy—Start of a program which, by the end of the year, will see 664,000 tons of warships under construction—a peace-time record. This will include five battleships of 35,000 tons and five aircraft carriers of from 22,000 to 23,000 tons.

Army—Thorough mechanization, development of modern anti-aircraft units, tremendous drive in recruiting to add 112,000 men to the regular army and reserves and 100,000 men to the territorial army. Response to recruiting is still slow—the one "weak link" in the program of rearmament.

Aviation: Acceleration of production of military planes to provide 1,750 first-line planes before long. Development of new high-speed bombers and air-dreadnaughts. Experimentation with bombers which can cruise, fully loaded, at more than 300 miles an hour.

Industry—Plans for immediate mobilization of industry in case of war; for protecting essential railroad services; for safeguarding food supplies. New munitions factories are being developed, in secluded areas away from population centres.

Civilian Protection—Start of manufacture of 30,000,000 gas masks for distribution to population in "event of emergency." Organization of communities for protection against enemy air-raids, including cleanup squads, portable fire engines, bomb-proof shelters.

Empire—Co-ordination of empire defence. Further development of naval and air bases at Malta and Singapore.

Merchant Marine—New attention to protection of merchant marine. Consideration of high-speed naval tankers for oil transport, possibility that power yachts may become a potential war reserve; special "shore training" for merchant marine officers.

There is, furthermore, an unknown factor in British rearmament and defence; the unannounced results of extensive research. Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for co-ordination of defence, recently told the House of Commons:

"The research committee has been very active indeed, and has produced some very remarkable results. But nothing could be more disastrous than for me even to hint at what research has been attained, and how much stronger we are in air defences as a consequence of the discoveries, and the application of those discoveries."

Rumor has it that important among these discoveries is a new type of "death ray" and new methods of protecting the navy against explosive and gas bombs.

A motor car may be assembled in a half-hour in some factories, but a railway engine can knock it into a cocked hat in about half a second.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Matthew's Anglican Church on Saturday evening last, Rev. Mr. Henderson officiating, when Rhoda Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hoon became the bride of Mr. George J. Jeffery. The contracting couple are both former residents of Oak Point, Man.

The bride wore a lovely dress of wine color velvet, trimmed with gold and carried a bouquet of talisman roses and maiden-hair fern.
Miss Sylvia Hoon, sister of the bride, was charming in a dress of navy swing-taffeta, trimmed with silver. She wore a halo hat to match and carried pink carnations. The bride's mother wore a navy dress and hat with white accessories and corsage bouquet of pink carnations.
The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Percy Jeffery.
After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, where 60 guests partook of the wedding supper.
The young couple will reside at Trail.

Dramatic Club Commences Rehearsal of One-act Play

Out of the group of people who have been sufficiently interested to attend the three drama meetings held in the high school recently, a tentative cast has been chosen for "Riders to the Sea", a one-act play by the Irish dramatist J. M. Synge. This is one of the three plays which will be put into rehearsal in the next six weeks, one of which will be chosen as Abbotsford's entry in the Fraser Valley Drama Festival to be held here during the week of November 22nd to 27th.

The next meeting will be held in the F. V. Library reading room on Tuesday, October 12, at 8 p.m., and anyone interested in amateur dramatics, who has not yet attended a meeting, is cordially invited to attend.

AT THE LIBRARY

O. Tanu and E. Yohan — "When Japan Goes to War"—China may be providing Japanese militarists with quite enough to occupy their attention at the present moment, but to the authors of this book, as to other observers, war with Russia is inevitable. It is the authors' object here to "ascertain, if only approximately, what strain such a war will impose upon the economic and political system of Japan, to what degree the country is prepared for such a strain, and what the results of it must be."
John Langdon-Davies—"Short History of the Future"—Analysis of the world today; prophesy of the world tomorrow.

A Hindu residing at Aldergrove appeared in Matsqui court this week on a charge of operating a truck in Matsqui municipality without having the necessary license. He was given suspended sentence and advised to take out the necessary permit immediately.

Donations for Prairie Relief To Be Loaded at Clayburn

Through the columns of The News and from the pulpits of the churches, people of this district have been asked to make donations of foodstuffs and produce to the cropless areas of Saskatchewan. The cause is a worthy one, and no effort should be spared to fill the box-car apportioned for this district.

The car will be placed ready for loading, on the C.P.R. track at Clayburn on Saturday morning, and will remain on the siding until Monday noon, October 11th.

Smaller packages may be placed in St. Matthew's Parish hall or in the hall at the back of the Trinity United church any time. If you are unable to bring your produce to the church or to the car, phone 120R and arrangements will be made to pick up your contribution. If your shipment is delayed till Saturday, phone 180.

All fresh fruits should be packed in boxes, as even hard winter apples are likely to be damaged when placed in sacks. Vegetables should be securely sacked to insure safe shipment.
